

DAY 1 CASE STUDIES

In class, you ask a friend to lend you a pencil. They say no. A little bit later, they lend someone else a ruler. How does this make you feel? What could you do to make this situation better without causing an argument?	A friend is having a party and doesn't want to invite someone in the friendship group. They ask you not to say anything about the party to anyone else. How does this make you feel? What would you do?
There is someone in your street that you know doesn't have the money to buy a toy that you have. It is a toy that you love and you don't want to give it away and your parents wouldn't let you anyway. How does this make you feel? What could you do?	Someone you know has taken something from the classroom that doesn't belong to them. It doesn't belong to you either, it is something that belongs in the classroom. They need it to do their homework and they don't have it at home. How does this make you feel? What would you do?
In assembly, someone whispers to you. You frown and them and say shhhh, but it is you that the teacher sees and you are asked to sit out! How does this make you feel? What would you do?	On the news, you see something that really upsets you and it makes you realise that some people are not respectful to other humans at all. How does it make you feel? What could you do?
