

Mindset

Mindset is an online training course and resource designed to equip leaders to help young people feel more resilient and cope with what life throws at them.

Mindset is open to anyone who works with children and young people, whatever the context: whether that is mentoring children in a school environment, being with young people as part of the Salvation Army's Street Based Youth Work, or part of family hubs, day centres or family services.

Resilience enables us to deal with the emotions a new situation may cause, and helps us bounce back from difficulties we might encounter. Being resilient is an emotional skill we can develop and build (and gets stronger with practice), and Mindset will provide tangible knowledge and resources to help leaders build young people's ability to cope with life's up and downs.

Everyone who attends the training will receive a Resilience Toolkit for ages 7-11yrs, and a Resilience Toolkit for ages 12-16yrs.

Mindset Short Course comprises of three training sessions (approx. 7 ½ hours learning).

Mindset Enhanced Course comprises of seven training sessions (approx. 18 hours learning).

The training topics include:

Emotional Regulation

The need to regulate ourselves before we can connect and be able to help others.

Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs)

What Adverse Childhood experiences are; what trauma is and the impact they both can have on children and young people.

Attachment

The importance of the first 1,000 days of a child's life and the impact of a child who experiences poor attachment.

Care Giving and Healthy Care Seeking

Understanding the differences and the risk of turning the need to care for young people into our own personal need to be wanted and our need to attach.

Digital Rewiring of Childhood

Exploring technology's role in young people's lives and its benefits and challenges for their development.
